The Little Red Hen

Read the short story and answer the questions

Once upon a time, there was a little red hen who found a grain of wheat. "Who will help me plant this wheat?" she asked. The duck said, "Not I." The cat said, "Not I." The pig said, "Not I." So the little red hen planted the wheat all by herself.

When the wheat grew into tall, golden stalks, she asked, "Who will help me cut this wheat?" Again, the duck, cat, and pig said, "Not I." So she cut the wheat by herself. Then she asked, "Who will help me take this wheat to the mill to grind it into flour?" Once more, her friends said, "Not I." So she took the wheat to the mill herself.

When she brought the flour home, she asked, "Who will help me bake this bread?" You guessed it! The duck, cat, and pig said, "Not I." So the little red hen baked the bread all by herself. When the bread was ready, she said, "Who is hungry?" The duck, cat, and pig said, "We are!" But the little red hen said, "No, I worked hard to make this bread, so I will eat it all myself!"
