Scott and Maiya's Baseball Adventure

Read the short story and answer the questions

Scott and Maiya were siblings who loved going to baseball games. They were big fans of the local team, the Thunderbolts. One sunny afternoon, their parents took them to a game.

As they entered the stadium, they were greeted by the roar of the crowd and the smell of hot dogs and popcorn. They found their seats and settled in to watch the game.

The game was exciting from the start. The Thunderbolts were playing against their rivals, the Firebirds. The first inning was scoreless, but in the second inning, the Thunderbolts scored a run. The crowd cheered loudly.

Scott and Maiya were on the edge of their seats. They ate hot dogs, popcorn, and plenty of snacks. They drank soda and cheered for their team.

In the fifth inning, the Firebirds scored a run. The game was tied. The crowd was silent.

In the bottom of the ninth inning, the Thunderbolts had a chance to win the game. With two outs and a runner on base, the Thunderbolts' star player came up to bat. The crowd held their breath.

The batter swung and hit the ball deep into the outfield. It was a home run! The Thunderbolts had won the game. The crowd erupted in cheers.

Scott and Maiya were so excited. They jumped up and down and waved their flags. Their parents were proud of them.

After the game, Scott and Maiya met some of the Thunderbolts players. They got autographs and took pictures. It was a day they would never forget.
