Glenn's Beach Day

Read the short story and answer the questions

Glenn loved going to the beach. He loved the feel of the sand between his toes, the sound of the waves crashing on the shore, and the taste of the salty air. One sunny day, Glenn invited his friends, Ben, Sam, Alex, and Lily, to go to the beach with him.

They packed a cooler full of snacks and drinks, grabbed their beach towels, and headed to the beach. When they got there, they found a spot on the sand and set up their towels.

They spent the morning swimming in the ocean. The water was cold at first, but it felt refreshing once they got used to it. They played games like tag and Marco Polo in the water.

After swimming, they played frisbee on the beach. Glenn was a great frisbee player, and he could throw the frisbee really far. Ben, Sam, Alex, and Lily tried their best to catch it.

When they were tired of playing frisbee, they sat on the sand and ate their sandwiches. They talked about their favorite things about the beach. Glenn loved the feeling of the sand between his toes. Ben liked the sound of the waves. Sam enjoyed building sandcastles. Alex loved to collect seashells. Lily just liked to relax and soak up the sun.

After lunch, they went for a walk on the beach. They found a tide pool and looked at all the different sea creatures. They also found a beautiful seashell.

When it was time to go home, Glenn and his friends were tired but happy. They had had a wonderful day at the beach. As they walked back to their cars, they made plans to go back again soon.
